I.K.V. BLACK DEMON (K.A.G.)
Volume No. 1 Issue No. 0 Date 4-15-94

ATTENTION!!

Are you aggressive by nature? Do you year for adventure beyond your living room? Do you despise star trekking Captain Jerk and Snotty? If you do, then you have what it takes to be a Klingon Warrior.

Join fellow Klingons in this out-of-this-world fraternity. Your membership in the Klingon Assault Group will keep you informed of Federation tactical maneuvers. Prove Klingon superiority over those Federation wussies through your participation in such club activities as the annual blood dual (Paintball War). Be known by your Klingon name, correspond with your Klingon brothers, gain rank and wear your uniform proudly. Best of all, membership is absolutely FREE.

FROM THE CAP'N

Greetings fellow warriors! I am Kahn vestai-Shar, commander of the I.K.V. Black Demon, a DFW chapter of the Klingon Assault Group. We are looking for a few good warriors. If you enjoy video games, comic books, science fiction, cheezy movies, paint ball, and of course Klingons, then we are looking for you. The I.K.V. Black Demon was launched on 4-1-1992 and has been designated DFW's first Klingon Assault Group chapter in the area. If you are interested in joining or knowing more about us, I have provided.

We meet every third Sunday from 2-4 pm at CiCi's Pizza in Waxahachie, off of Hwy 77, in the shopping center north of Univerity Dr.

WELCOME!!

You are probably wondering: "what the heck is this about?!?". Well this newsletter is from the some-what new I.K.V. Black Demon. We have been active in K.A.G. for about two years, we have seen our share of mayhem through out this area and we have had enough!! We have now realized that the only way to get someone's attention is by beating them in battle, and I mean cover them up with so much goop that it looks like someone literally beat the snot out of them. The members of the I.K.V. Black Demon have formed a paint ball team named: Storm Front. We hope to hear from or meet some of you "closet" Klingons in face or on the field of battle. We meet at CiCi's Pizza every third Sunday of the month from 2:00pm-4:00pm in Waxahachie Texas (see map on back).

CHALLENGE

I must warn you fellow Klingon Warriors, there is another Klingon Club in the area. Now I'm not here to back my fellow warriors, but I think that if you have to pay for a yearly fee just to keep your empire up and going, then I think you better turn in your little Worf action figures and change your name to "Starfleet Jr.". I mean you have no honor to you name. What is the big deal about joining up with Starfleet? Don't you know they spread lies about the Empire!? K.A.G. is at war with those wool pajama wearing fools and if you try to defend them, then we will hold no mercy for you on the field of battle.

This challenge goes for any Starfleet softies, the Klingon/Feddie bastard ships U.S.S. Kronos and the U.S.S. Storm Bird. We have had an eye on you two and we see failure.

We will wait for your response, if none is heard within the month, then I guess the rumors we have heard is true and honor does not serve aboard your vessels. May Kahless weep for you.

APOLOGY

While Klingons do not apologize for their behavior, I will step out of character and apologize to you, our reader. If you are lost about the name calling and complaining, it's all just fun and games, no one should take any of this banter too seriously. While the challenge is a valid one, we understand that we are playing a fictitious race of people.

We have met many people from both Starfleet and the Intergalactic Klingon Empire in person and find them to be decent human beings, we are only calling their claims of being Klingon into question. We eagerly look forward to playing a few games of paint ball with them and then heading out for some pizza afterwards (loser's treat).

FROM THE CAP'N

So, we forgot to file a monthly report to our superiors, oops. So I stayed up late typing up a report and got it off in the mail this morning. I'm sure it will be funny since it was done so late. I was over at Kamarag's casa checking out Trek Bulletin Boards (BBS), it's pretty neat to see the text of other Klingon fans. Dialing into these BBS(es?) reminds me of the movie, War Games. We read a post from a member of the I.K.V. Cloaked Vengeance, a chapter of K.A.G. Take a look around, if you can dial into Prodigy there are some listings there.

I am still trying to get used to using a computer as compared to a typewriter for these reports. A few months ago, I scored a photocopy machine that was thrown in the dumpster. It still works, so until I figure out how to put graphics on here, I'm going to photo copy images and paste them in a master print. I hope that I can figure out how to expand this layout so we can have a neat folder newsletter like those guys up north. I should be learning some cool layout stuff on the computer when I go to college at the end of the month. Maybe use their resources, Ha-Ha!

There are some conventions coming up that we need to discuss at our next meeting.

- Kahn

AGGIECON '94

If you missed out on going to AggieCon are probably wondering: "what the hell happened?!?". Well, a lot of cool stuff happened. As you all know, I was the only one able to attend the convention, but it was a rough trip, I had to ride with some Feddies. After what seemed like years, we finally made it to College Station. I want to go on record that I now HATE filk music.

While there I met the C.O. of the I.K.V. Hek Tar, KaZak tai-K'Cho'rt from San Antonio and the C.O. of the I.K.V. Reaver, Kavras from Ft. Hood.

We heard that the U.S.S. Kronos had not done anything and rumored to have not officially launched, although I have seen promotional material for them.

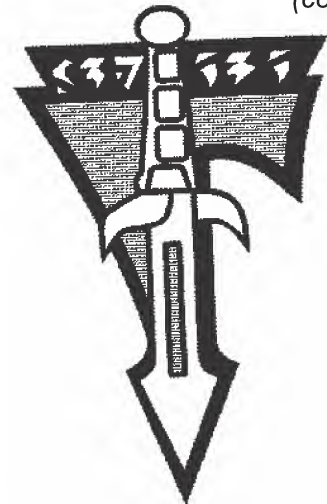

The con was fun, and the hospitality room was a life save since I didn't bring a lot of money to spend. I ended up sleeping on the floor of a Feddie officer's floor, but I snore so I came out the victor. I did meet a very beautiful girl there at the evening dance and masquerade. Her and I danced, talked, and took a long walk around the campus and saw an outdoor performance of the Rocky Horror Picture Show. I must have been a smooth talker because I not only got to hold her hand and kiss her good night, I also got her mailing address and phone number! Man I can't wait for college, it's going to be way better than high school.

The last day of the con was great for picking up deals in the dealer room. On the way home, I was spared torture from filk music (if you want ot call it that) and got to listen to non stop They Might Be Giants, Devo, and other great music. I hope next time some of you guys get to come along. If you remember the fun we had at Tex-Trek, then you'll have a blast at Aggiecon. It's just a jump to the left.

PROMOTIONS

I have been the proud recipient of the nomHoH (Fast Kill) award. The nomHoH was designed to recognize and reward warriors for outstanding performance during first time attempts in various activities.

I received the nomHoH from Admiral Klag himself. He felt that since I was starting a new chapter in my life, I had fought a brave battle so far and felt it was worthy of recognition. Admiral Klag has been a mentor of a sort to me since the first day of a member of K.A.G. I thank him for recognizing my achievements and for the award. I will wear it proudly.

Lance Crpl. Kilrah (Mark Haynes)
Lance Crpl. Kruge (Brent McChessny)

You two have now been promoted to full Corporal. KAI and keep up the great work!

NEWS

Well if I haven't mentioned it to you guys, I'm leaving for college at the end of the month. I'm not sure what my parent's are planning as a send off to me, but I would like to get together and do something really fun. We defiantly discuss this at the meeting in a few weeks.

I'm going to be studying for a computer graphics degree. I hope while I am there I can expand our crew and perhaps start a new chapter from them. I will still keep in contact with your guys and have planned on continuing our meetings at the pizza joint every 3rd Sunday (you know the time). I hope that while I am at school, I can learn on the computer how to make the folded style design for our newsletters. This program doesn't allow me to freely design on it.

What will happen to the I.K.V. Black Demon? Nothing. We are going to continue on as business as usual. I found out that I get a free mail box and telephone line, so I will call you guys with that info when they issue it to me. Kamarag is still in charge when I'm a way, so if anything comes up and I'm unavailable, go to him.

THINGS TO DISCUSS AT THE MEETING:

- *Upcoming Trek/Sci-fi Cons
- *Upcoming Comic Cons
- *Possible PBS Volunteer
- *Possible Highway Adoption

FROM THE CAP'N

Bet you thought you wouldn't see this newsletter, well I got you! I made this newsletter before I left for college. By now I'm settled in to my dorm and probably getting used to a roommate. But, I wanted to let you guys know that I had a great time for my bash. I'm proud to have recruited you guys and prouder to call you friends.

- Kahn

WEAPONS REPORT

We are in for a treat, Koron wrote something up for me to place in the next newsletter. Here is his piece:

Weapons officer report: Paintball

Hey guys, Ellen's Amusement Park has allowed us free air and use of one of their guns for payment of building the current field.

Also, I want to know if you guys want to go to Paintball Games of Dallas again soon before it gets too cold. Kahn and I played in the cold once and it sucked.

See you guys later, that is all. - Koron

AMBASSADOR KAHN

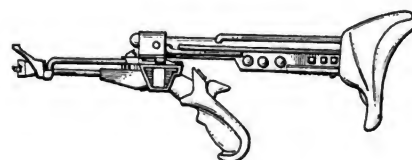

Well as most of Region 3 of Starfleet know's me as an ambassador of the mighty Klingon Empire, I have to perform duties to help keep the relations of our two clubs in good terms. I told you all about meeting a young lady at Aggiecon, well I talked her into coming up for a visit and to go to the Comic Expo up in Dallas. Her brother tagged along, but I didn't care. My parents actually let them stay with us. I'll go into more detail in our next meeting, but guys I think I have broken the myth that only ugly girls go to these cons. Who ever started that rumor must have the worse luck or like the company of men better.

NEWS

I have been looking for a suitable model to represent our chapter and have only been able to successfully find a bird of prey model in the ST:TNG kit that comes with the Romulan Warbird and the Ferengi Marauder. While I'm not too happy with the size of the AMT/ERTL model, I think that it will probably have to do until we gain enough members to upgrade to a K'Tinga (D-7) model. I have heard rumors that the new Star Trek movie (Generations) is suppose to have some models released and the bird of prey that the Duras sisters were on is among the listed items coming out to support the movie. Right now, the only way we can have a larger model for display on a recruitment table is a B.O.P. "figurine" that was put out by a company called ENESCO, and the price is not something that I feel like I can afford just now. There is brighter hope though, I found out that Hallmark stores now have their 1994 xmas Trek ornaments in, and this year it's a B.O.P.! I have put it on my birthday wish list. It looks a little larger than the model from AMT/ERTL, but it's detailed at lit. I might have to figure out a way to light and display it for recruitment tables.

The toy company, Playmates, is putting out a toy version of the Klingon disruptor. If these are to scale, or close to, they might be great for uniforms. I'm unsure if these are out right now or not, if any of you get the chance to swing into a store that sells Trek toys, you might want to check and report back.

The best news of all: United Cutlery has introduced a Klingon fan's next piece of costume accessory. What is it? A knife called the "Bird of Prey Battle Knife". What does it look like? Look on the back of this paper to see a photocopy of the advertisement.

Next month when I'm in town, I would like to have an afternoon that we run up to the Parks Mall in Arlington and hit up the Starlog store. They might have the knife, but they will most likely have the Klingon ship figurine I mentioned. There is also a communicator pin that we can get that you wear on the sleeve of your uniform. If Starlog doesn't have it I'm sure Lone Star Comics does. It's been a long time since we did a comic book shop crawl.

I'm attaching to this newsletter another sheet of paper with the book marker idea and the recruitment flier we can place at the shops we hit up. The book markers might be trickier to place since some stores may not allow us to do it, so I made them a little smaller so that we can covertly place them in the novels and put them back on the shelf. I did this back when a Freddie ship was holding a book promotion. I snuck right in, and placed my book markers in before they knew what happened.

FROM THE CAP'N

WOW, it's been three months since our last newsletter. Things have been going well in college, I learned a lot of cool stuff and met some beautiful ladies. No kegger parties yet, but I know a few people who can get me in to a few if I want. I've been keeping a low-key this semester since it's my first one, but I can say that I love college! I am glad to have my first semester behind me though.

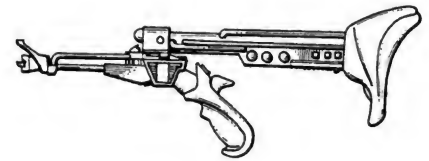

I've talked with a few Trek fans who are interested in joining the ship. Thankfully there is a CiCi's not too far from campus, so I guess we have a good meeting place that allows smoking and binge-eating. One of the potential members, named Guy, works part time for a small comic/gaming shop in the mall. He also works part time for William's Entertainment and told me that I might be able to jump on the crew to beta test games! I won't know until this summer. But I won't forget my friends, I'll try to hook you all up if I can.

This issue will be handed out at our meeting this weekend, so I will try to cram more info into this one sheet newsletter. I have a lot of great info to pass along. So I guess I better get started.

- Kahn

WEAPONS REPORT

Koron reported to me last month that things with Ellen's Amusement Park is getting weird. The owner is acting as if he doesn't want to honor his agreement with us in building the playing field, but the day manager has been sneaking us air and ammo when he can. We have been stock piling what ammo we don't use up because we may have to start looking into a new playing field. I have heard rumors of one in Mansfield, we might have to take a day trip up to see. If this guy is going to screw us around then we will take our team elsewhere and recommend not using his field to play in. Until he tells us to not come back, we are going to take full advantage of using the field that we built for practice.

WEAPONS REPORT

(supplemental) I have heard on campus that the church group that holds free lunches (while they preach at you) occasionally holds trips to local paint ball fields. After some asking around, I found this to be true and that they plan on a trip sometime next semester around Spring Break. I think they are going to come up to Ellen's Amusement Park, so get your guns ready and your sights set. We might have a great time target practicing on newbs.

- Kahn

NEWS

I have great news, this past semester, I learned how to properly scan and clean images. In addition, I also learned how to use a program that will allow me to build multiple pages. This is great because I get so jealous of other chapter's newsletters using the folded paper method that gives you multiple pages. This new program will allow me to wrap the text around an image like they do in news papers. The current program I am using for this newsletter doesn't give me much room to design. I started to work on a prototype of the new look for Maximum Overkill, so get your pens and papers out and start writing up a few articles you'd like to see in our newsletter. On the reverse side, I will give you a list of topics we can cover. If you find any Klingon images you'd like to submit, feel free to send them to my college mail address so I can scan them and drop them into the new layout.

I'm pretty excited in upgrading the newsletter format. I know we create these to inform each other, so the new layout will allow us to expand on articles, spotlights, and much more. Depending on the load you all send me and what I can get scanned at school, will determine how many pages we will have.

I'm hoping to keep it down to 6 pages at first but it might end up going to more pages.

Remember, a few copies are being sent into High Command, so make sure you write what you want others to read. Let's make them proud of us down here in Texas. I sometimes feel like we get left out in a lot of things due to our location.

-Kahn

THINGS WE NEED

O.K. so we need topics to cover in our new expanded newsletter. Here's a few I have seen over the years.

- * Uniform/Prop building
- * Makeup techniques
- * Fan stories
- * Character bios
- * Art/Comics/Jokes

DEPARTMENTS

I would like to have a nice two-three paragraph (or more) report on your departments. You all know what you are in charge of and please feel free to ask me if you are unsure what to write about.

I don't really care how you want to write it, some people like being formal, some people are informal. Just type it in the way that feel conformable to you.

FOR SALE

Kamarag wanted to let you all that he has extra Star Trek trading cards for sale or trade. You can get with him at the next meeting or call him at 723-3192.

Torg has a few comics and baseball cards he's wanting to part with. He told me he'll bring what he wants to sell to the next meeting.

U.S.S. DRAGON STARR

If you guys haven't met the members of the newest Starfleet chapter located in our own county, they are having a cook out and bon fire next month. I have all the info from the CO of the chapter, they would like for us to come out and party. They seem to be pretty decent people and show some interest towards the Klingons.

They are holding it in Milford at the C.O.'s residence (a small family farm). They ask for us to volunteer to bring something. I think some deserts would be good. As you guys know I have a car that will fit 5 conformably, so that if you guys chip in for deserts, I'll pay for gas out there. I was told BYOB, but there would be alcohol there.

They are also allowing us to camp in their back yard, so if you can spend the night, bring your tent. Mine will only hold two people, but I doubt any of you want to bunk with me, I snore. This might be a good recruitment tool, but we should keep in mind that we have an image to maintain. I don't want to hear any of you crying "QAPLA!" as you hurl in the bushes. HA-HA!

If you can't spend the night, but can drive, we can car pool to the party. We will discuss this more at the next meeting.

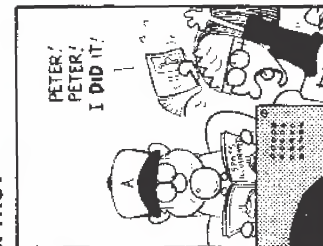

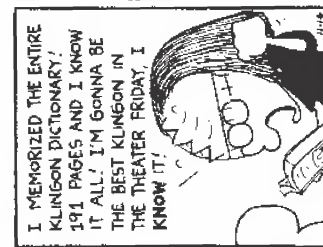

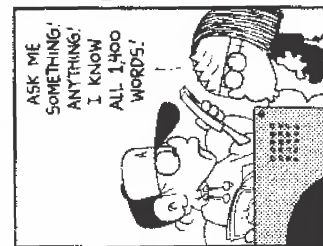

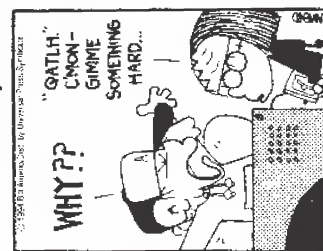

HANG OUT

I figured that since we all don't get to see each other as much due to college, jobs, and girlfriends, we should make it a point to get together and watch some television together. I have heard that Channel 13 might be doing a Red Dwarf or Doctor Who marathon. When I get the information on that, we should all get together and watch it. I will be recording them all in case we all can't get together.

We could try to have a Star Trek movie marathon, but I did that a year ago in a movie theater over in Garland and my ass was numb for a week. Perhaps in the next month or so, you guys can come out to the campus and hang out for the weekend. Perhaps we can catch a Pink Floyd laser show or something.
